

SEARCH BY EXAMPLE

A 'more like this' feature for the most relevant web results

Extracting the information you need from 800 million domains and more than 200 variables per domain can get overwhelming for even the most seasoned data expert. Dataprovider.com's new Search By Example feature gives you the ideal place to start: the URL of your best customer, closest competitor, or dream client. Using your Example, our proprietary algorithm gets to work—with just a few clicks, you'll have a comprehensive list of similar companies and leads globally, based on the content of a website. Optimize workflows with the most relevant results, send your teams' efforts to only the highest-quality leads, and benefit from a streamlined data experience for beginners and experts alike.

Key benefits

Discover high-quality accounts with custom lead lists

With just one URL from an ideal customer or a company in your desired industry, our Search By Example feature returns a dataset of matching profiles—including firmographics, geographic information, and contact details right alongside your results. Take the next step with actionable information, and reach out to your potential customers via email, phone, or social media right away. Your sales and marketing teams can work efficiently and confidently knowing their new leads are consistently strong.

Understand your competition even better

Strengthen your business by staying ahead of the competition. Search with your own business URL as Example and explore the industry at local or global level: generate lists of competing companies, products, or services in your region and beyond. Our data helps you understand a competitor’s website traffic, behind-the-scenes technology use, or Economic Footprint. Set yourself apart with the insights Dataprovider.com can give.
