EVERYTHING THAT'S OUT THERE

We index the ever-growing internet

Browsing those endless result pages provided by traditional search engines seems to take forever. That's why we created Dataprovider.com. We index the relevant world wide web and transform it into a structured database to provide you with detailed insights – within seconds.

HIGHLY DETAILED

Over 700 million domains filtered by over 200 variables and 10,000 values

We have identified and summarized valuable data attributes from billions of web pages, from business details to technical specs and from marketing insights to hosting information. The result is a structured database, ready for immediate use.

ALWAYS FRESH

Monthly updates of every indexed domain

We update our database in near real-time while indexing to ensure you get the latest information. These updates enable you to see the changes made to any website per month and track changes over time.
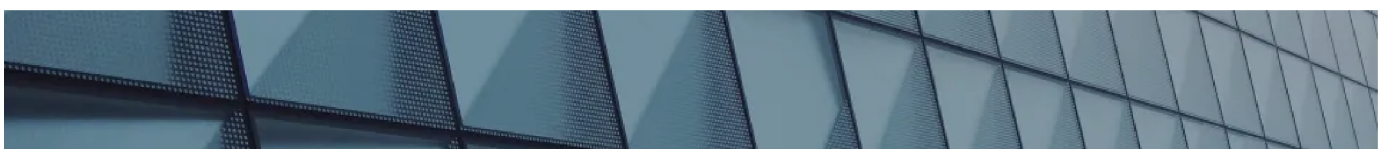

STRUCTURED SEARCHES

Structured in a clean and searchable database

Our unique Proprietary Data Scores indicate a website's performance in terms of, among others, its economic impact, security and cloud savviness. Search our engine keywording natural language. Use filter combinations to create bespoke datasets.
